

A Gentle Introduction to Canada's Newest Social Science Project: The Canadian Century Research Infrastructure Project (CCRI).

Presented to the ACCOLEDS 2002 Training Session

At the University of Victoria

http://gateway2.uvic.ca/gov_data/data/accoleds/

By

Dr. Peter Baskerville, Professor of History, University Of Victoria

And

Ernie Boyko, Director, Library and Information Centre, Statistics Canada

December 6, 2002

1. Introduction to the session.
2. Overview of CCRI
 - What is it about?
 - Where did it come from?
 - Who are the players and the partners?
 - What will come out of it?

URL: <http://www.canada.uottawa.ca/ccri/index-eng.htm>
3. Statistics Canada's role.
4. What old Census Manuscripts really look like?
A tour of the 1901 Census manuscripts guided by Mr. Sid

URL: http://www.archives.ca/02/020122_e.html
5. Has anyone else done something like this?
A brief visit to the IPUMs site at the Minnesota Population Centre

URL: <http://www.ipums.umn.edu/usa/>
6. Hands on session using the 1901 Public Use Microdata File
7. Discussion on the anticipated output from CCRI
 - To Whom?
 - How?
 - Formats?
 - Can't get enough of that Metadata!- Role of <ddi>
 - Training Canada's Data Librarians to support and nurture the CCRI data. What would ACCOLEDS like to see?
8. Wrap-up

